Volume 3, Issue 3

NetRiders Competition is open!

Registration has officially begun for the 2013 Post-Secondary NetRiders Competition! Instructors, we urge you to encourage your students to sign up for this amazing opportunity to gain real practical experience that will prove valuable to them if they are working towards a CCNA certification. The top prize is an all expense paid study trip to San Jose, CA. Winners would gain notice from professionals in the industry that could possibly lead to job offers in the future.

This competition is open to all students enrolled in a Post-Secondary institution in the US or Canada (unavailable in Quebec). Eligible students should be enrolled in a CCNA discovery or exploration course, or have been enrolled in the past 9 months. Select Register Now to be redirected to

Like most professionals, you likely have a lot of your professional information scattered across your different social media platforms. Enter Dice.com; a job search site catered towards IT that has created a new tool called Open Web (still a beta version at this time). Open Web compiles all your information into one location that recruiters can find and easily access, getting the potential employee that much closer to the job. Read the article here.
